was visiting her mother, Mrs. E. A. Crow and family, last Saturday. Two of her daughters, who accompanied her, remained for a longer visit.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gresham, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dodson and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bridgman, with their families, spent last Sunday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Teyman, near Fortescue.

—H. M. Spillman is said to have the best seventy acres of wheat in this neighborhood. Harvest will soon be here, and it is said that there will be some wheat cut the latter part of this week.

—Brother D. O. Yeager held services at the Methodist church, last Sunday, morning and evening, and left Monday morning for his old home in Terre Haute, Ind., where he will visit with home folks for several weeks.

—Mrs. M. B. Melton entertained the following to a big dinner, last Tuesday: Mrs. L. W. Nottley, Mrs. J. W. Gresham, Mrs. R. L. Bridgman, Mrs. Alta Sinks, of Beatrice, Neb., and Mrs. C. H. Graves, of Mound City.

—George Courier and Newt Mullis, the first of the week, put in a concrete crossing, just west of the Youse property, and also repaired the crossing just north of the City Hotel. This is an improvement that has been needed for some time.

—Have you been reading the "A. A. Jeffrey" news in The Sentinel? This is a valuable addition to the good old Sentinel, and is chock full of boiled down news of Northwest Missouri, this department alone being well worth the price of subscription.

—Misses Jean McKee, Dorothy St. John, Gertrude Walker and Rowena Conaway were the guests of the Misses Bertha, Zoe and Addie Morris to a bunk party at their home, west of town, last Saturday night. From reports, the girls sure had a big time.

—Misses Joe and Jean Wilson, Blanch Browning and Ruth Moller left one day, last week, for St. Joseph, where they were to visit with friends for several days, and then go on to Pratt and Friend, Kansas, where they will visit with friends for several weeks.

—Brother Brownlee, the base ball magnate, redeemed himself, last Sunday afternoon, when his team "skinned" the St. Joseph Highlanders to the tune of 5 to 0. Next Sunday, the Fortescue team will play the Mound City team and the game promises to be a good one.

—There was a big basket dinner at the Bethel church, last Sunday. In the morning, the children of the Sunday school rendered an excellent program, then came the big dinner. Brother Cooley held services at the church, Saturday evening and after dinner. There was a good crowd present.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Smith and daughter, Miss Nellie, were visiting with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Jones, five miles north of Rulo, Neb., last Sunday. Tuck says they sure have plenty to eat over there in Nebraska, and the feeding was so attractive that he stayed for supper.

—Emmett Hinkle, of Fortescue neighborhood, was in town last Saturday, trying out our cement sidewalks. Emmett says everything is fine and dandy down in that neighborhood. We won't tell that story this time, Emmett, but you had better be on your good behavior if you don't want it told later on.

—Brother H. Porter and wife arrived last Saturday noon, from Glenwood, Iowa, for a few days' visit with O. W. Adams and wife. They are missionaries, who recently returned from Africa, where they spent several years in religious work. They will assist in the meetings at Fortescue while here.

—The Holiness meetings are still going on at Fortescue, and there was a good-sized crowd in attendance, last Sunday evening. Brother Kern, of Hamlin, Kansas, preaching a very strong sermon. Next Sunday is to be Missionary day. Several missionaries are expected to be present, and a basket dinner is planned. The meetings are expected to be of more than usual interest and everybody is invited to attend.

—A card was received by Mrs. Asher from Robert Asher, from Nevada, Mo., the latter part of last week, saying they were getting along all right. Everybody in this vicinity are anxious to hear from the boys who have gone to the front. There was a large crowd at the depot to bid them good bye, when they left last week, and there was hardly a dry eye in the crowd. We hope to hear more from them this week.

—That's right, Brother Arkansaw, funny Brother Brownlee the base ball magnate, never said a word about that game between Salem, Neb., and the Brownlee team. Seems like we did hear some one say, though, that the score was about 19 to 7 in favor of the Nebraska boys. That's all right, Brother Brownlee, you can't expect to win every game, but you had just as well come across and 'fess up, the truth will out, you know.

—Another big rain of about three inches fell last Friday morning, flooding the land north of town. The water did not get quite as high as the last time, but was over the wagon road in several places between here and Little Rock. Mr. Jessup, on the old E. A. Brown place, had just finished planting corn for about the third time, and this flood again put him out of business. Seems like these floods are getting to be a regular thing.

—Holiness tent meetings at Fortescue are still in progress with good interest. Next Sunday, July 2, will be Missionary day. Elder Hans Porter and wife, who have spent thirteen years in South Africa in missionary work, will be present and will give an interesting address on their experience and work among natives. Miss Laura Steckley, who has spent seven years in missionary work in India, will give an interesting talk on missionary work among the Hindus. She has an Indian costume, several pictures, curios and some heathen gods, which will be of special interest, besides Miss Steckley is one of the best of entertainers and will interest you.

—Miss Rose Mittle, who has had six years' experience among the Japanese, will also give an address on missionary work in the field. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these meetings; bring your dinners and stay all day and enjoy one of the very best and most interesting meetings you ever attended.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Democratic Voters of the Third Senatorial District:—Having filed with the Secretary of State my intention to become a candidate for the office of State Senator of the Third Senatorial District, subject to the decision of the Democratic voters at the coming August Primary, I now make formal announcement of my candidacy.

I do not believe my Democracy will be questioned for a moment. From my arrival at my majority my vote has been to advance the cause of the party of the people—pure and undefiled Democracy. Politically, I know no other cause, and while my life has been spent in a county which has ever given its majority to the favor of the opposite party, I have never been discouraged or found wanting in doing my party duty, though in the minority.

My life has been spent in Holt county, the county of my birth, where I feel it has been an open book, and where as a lawyer and citizen my actions are open to investigation.

I ask the support of the Democracy of the Third Senatorial District, feeling that from my training and educational advantages, I am fully qualified to fill the position with honor to myself, credit to the party and satisfaction to the people.

In all questions of political significance and alignments, you may feel sincere in finding my name on the roll call as being in line with my party and party causes.

Of all questions relating to the passage of laws for the benefit of society, good roads and commercial well being, you will find me ready at all times to lend my hearty support, when such laws are in harmony with our constitution as I so understand the organic law of our state.

I feel that I am in touch and awake to the needs of our state, and am a Progressive in all movements that will tend to keep our great state in line with the advanced tendencies of the day, social, political, commercial, agricultural and educational, and in all such general legislation you will find me as one ready to vote honestly and conscientiously as conscience and good judgment dictates.

I am a Democrat, and Democratic in all things, and I therefore ask your support at the coming August primary, believing that you will find my record clean and honorable in every way and that I am worthy of your support.

Respectfully
RICHARD B. BRIDGEMAN.

MAKINGS OF A HAPPY MAN.

Qualities That Make Life a Joy For Their Possessor.

We have noticed the happiest man many a time. He works for his living, and he gets a good one. One thing we notice is he is a man of few habits; doesn't squander a cent on liquor, tobacco or betting. He saves his money and is getting ready to buy some property. He loves his home, plays with the children, reads good books and keeps company with his wife. Because of his good habits he saves a little which will give him a chance to make an investment.

And then there is another thing—he is a reliable man. He does good work. He will not smooth over bad work. He is honest in whatever he does. Every dollar he gets represents just that much of honest labor. It is this, largely, that makes him prosperous and happy.

Water keeps its own level, and so do conduct and character and prosperity. If a man is mean and low, so will the consequences be. He cannot be one thing and his experience another. A low lived man may grow rich and happy, but it will not be for long. Anybody can tell what's the matter with a man if he is with him a day. He will soon see if the other is a spleen, a stomach, an uplift or a hope.

Saving For a Sunny Day.

Jake Pentecost was a unique character. He had a large family, and although he was reasonably diligent in the use of saw and ax on the village wood piles, he frequently came to seek aid from the city fathers.

"I gotta haff a sack of flour," said Jake on one occasion. "I'm all out, and my family 'as starvin'."

"All right, Jake," said the official. "If you need a sack of flour and have no money to buy it with we'll get you a sack. But see here, Jake. There's a circus coming to town in a few days, and if we get you a sack of flour are you sure that you will not sell it and take your family to the circus?"

"Oh, no," said Jake. "I already got tat safed up. Yes, I got money to go to the circus."—Youth's Companion.

Controlling the Temper.

Good health is the first requisite of a good temper. All one knows or feels finds expression through the body. Thought, will, action, are all influenced by its condition. Whatever impairs the integrity of the body or disturbs the harmony of its wonderful organization creates discord for the whole being. Unpleasant feelings due to ill health are likely to produce corresponding unpleasantness of disposition. The disorder, if prolonged, results in a bad habit, thus becoming an element in individual character. Deranged digestion, vitiated blood and other impaired vital processes are at the foundation of much of the irritability, impatience, caprice, ill temper and so called naughtiness of childhood.—Good Health.

AN OLD TIME DINNER.

Curious Table Manners of England in the Seventeenth Century.

An account of hospitality in England in 1629 gives a good idea of the manner in which a country gentleman of the period lived. Dinner and supper were brought in by the servants with their hats on, a custom which is corroborated by Fynes Morison who says that, being at a knight's house who had many servants to attend him, they brought in the meats with their heads covered with blue caps.

After washing their hands in a basin they sat down to dinner, and Sir James Pringle said grace. The viands seemed to have been plentiful and excellent—"big pottage, long kale, towes of white kale," which is cabbage; "brach soppe," powdered beef, roast and boiled mutton, a venison pie in form of an egg and goose. Then they had cheese, cut and uncut, and apples. But the close of the feast was the most curious thing about it.

The tablecloth was removed, and on the table were put a "towel the whole breadth of the table and half the length of it, a basin and ewer to wash, then a green carpet laid on, then one cup of beer set on the carpet, then a little lawn servitor plaited over the corner of the table and a glass of hot water set down also on the table; then he there three boys to say grace, the first the thanksgiving, the second the Father Noster, the third prayer for a blessing of God's church. The good man of the house, his parents, kinsfolk and the whole company then do drink hot waters, so at supper, then to bed."

BREAKING INTO FARMING.

Some Advice to Those Who Yearn to Wee the Soil.

"How can I make a start?" ask men who have grown tired of uncongenial positions.

Certain things seem clear. First, the individual must decide for himself just which line of work he prefers, and then he should secure a good knowledge of the theory of it. The next thing is to develop a knowledge of the practice of the work, and about the only way to do so is actually to work awhile at it. Don't be too badly alarmed. In this day the farming businesses are crying for labor, and the workers are paid well for their services.

Next, he ought never to buy a place "unseen." He should look over the prospective farm, consider location, soil, climate, markets and labor conditions. In short, he must be prepared to handle a farm business like any other business. He must be prepared for hard physical and keen mental work.

If he is capable of these, especially of the latter, he need not be afraid to venture into a farming proposition, for it will repay his efforts. But if he hasn't this ability let him stay right where he is.

Never let him attempt to show the natives how to farm, for without good business management behind it he will find farming about the hardest work with the poorest pay on earth.—Justus Miller in Country Magazine.

One Way to Get Fame.

Walter was something of a wag. One day his father said to him:

"See here, my son. You must begin to think of the future. What are you going to do to gain fame and fortune when you grow up?"

"I'm going to make toothpicks," answered the boy.

"Going to make toothpicks! I don't understand how you'll ever become famous."

"Why, father, it will be easy enough. I'll manufacture millions upon millions of them, and on each I'll stamp my name. The toothpicks will be in everybody's mouth, of course, and so will my name. And if my name is in every one's mouth I shall be famous enough."

"Well, well," said the astonished gentleman, "I think I would do well to let that boy alone."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Her Suspicion.

"I declare for it," said Aunt Pretty Fawcetts to Mrs. Judge Tubman. "I believe old Captain Peglington is thinking about marrying again. Burt Blurt says the cap'n painted up his wooden leg yesterday. Burt didn't tell me, but he told Ellick Smart, and Ellick repeated it to his sister Priary, and Priary told it to Phenny Partlow, and Phenny told it to the sweet potato peddler, and the sweet potato peddler told me not ten minutes ago. So I guess it's so."—Kansas City Star.

Reckless Bravery.

"Have you ever stopped to think how many deadly germs there are on a dollar bill?"

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Johnson, sighing, "but whenever I see a man with a big roll of bills in his hand I long to share his peril."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Tree of Genealogy.

It is with the tree of genealogy as with the oak of the forest—we may boast of the timbers it has given to a state vessel, but say naught of the three legged stools, the broomsticks and tobacco stoppers made from the ends and chips.—Douglas Jerrold.

Stingy.

"They tell me that Blank is awfully stingy."

"He is! Why, if that fellow killed two birds with one stone he would want the stone back!"—Exchange.

The reputation that is built on cleverness is temporary; that built on character is permanent.
